Feedback Review:

The webinar was begins with the introductory speech of the Dr. Shivaji Sontakke, Vice-Principial and Librarian, and convener of the webinar. He welcomes and introduced all the dignitaries of the webinar and all the participants from all over India. He puts the purpose of organizing this webinar and acknowledge about COVID-19 Lockdown situation to highlights necessity of organizing the webinars with use of ICT to overcome the critical situation of COVID-19 Lockdown.

The Inauguration of the webinar was done by the Honorable Shri Govindrao Bhopnikar, the president of Janseva Sevabhavi Pratisthan, Bhopani, Latur. He gives the motivational speech for the webinar and thanks to the organizers for organizing this webinar. He assured all the support for all such type of intellectual events in future also. He welcomes all the resource persons and participants and gives wishes for success of the webinar.

Dr. Vaishali Chaukhnade Madam had put the seed for webinar through key note address. She emphasize on the paradigm shift due to ICT from print to online e-resources available for the research work in this changing environment. She addressed the importance of E-resources in research work and are available on the fingertips of the users in this age of ICT, where time factor is most important in respect of availability of information resources. She highlights the advantages of e-resources for cost effectiveness and quality enhancement in research work. The researchers must go for online resources, institutional repositories, depositories and the cyber resources to avoid unnecessary efforts and for quality in research work.

Dr. Dharmaraj Veer addressed the importance of literature search to enhance the quality of research. Research is an unending process towards quality enhancement of existing situation in every field. The success and the quality of research is depends upon the searching the prominent literature. In this of ICT environment in numbers of resources are available by means of institutional repositories, depositories, resources available in the D-space, clouds, online resources like e-books, e- journals, magazines, etc. millions of resources available in cyber space and only thing is that, the research scholars and the LIS professionals should have the skill and competencies to select and access and deliver the appropriate resource which is key factor for enhance the quality of research.

Dr. Nandkumar Dahibhate had discussed about how the research topic selection is important to avoid the waste of time money and efforts. The selection of topic is the key factor to complete the research work. Writing the research work is a skillful task and research scholars should have the ability to fulfill this task in order to enhance the quality in research work. Research work should be the reflection of the problem strike in researcher's mind. Writing a research work should be proper and clears all the concept of research problem till end. It just like flow less course of presentation. So the research scholars should keep in mind about the impediments like plagiarism in research writing from the beginning to the end.

Dr. Ashok chavan addressed the possible empediments will comes during the course of research work. He highlights the guide –research scholar relations, discussion about topic selection, fulfillment of progress report in time, time-to-time dialogue with guide are important for smooth working during research.

Dr. Jagdish Kulkarni expressed his views about importance and quality of research work and its utility towards the society. He point out that the quality of all the research work is not questionable and it is somehow very useful for the society and the community should take note of that.

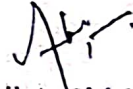

Dr. Suraj Jange delivered the excellent lecture on research methodology. He covered all the elements from selection of research topic, hypothesis, relativity of literature review, research design, to finding and conclusions are essential to be considered during research work.

Work and in this regard the Mendeley Reference Management tool is proper and very effective to complete the research work in prescribed time.

Dr. Dharmaraj Veer summarize all the sessions of the webinar very excellently. He takes an account of the speakers and succeeds in delivering the fruitfulness of the webinar in respect of enhancement of the quality of research work in this web based information environment.

Two days webinar was wind up with valedictory function. The chairperson gives the motivational speech for the webinar and thanks to the organizers for organizing this webinar. He assured all the support for all such type of intellectual events in future also. he thanks all the resource persons for the valuable guidance and all participants for participation and interact the online webinar. The vote of thanks for both the days was done by the Principal Dr. Prashant Bhande.

The vote of thanks was proposed by webinar convener Dr. Shivaji Sontakke. He thanks all the sections of the webinar i.e Resource Person Panel, Coordinating committee members, technical support partner Softech Solutions, Pune, teaching and non-teaching staff members for their effortless contribution in webinar for grand success.
